

News of the Day ; Warning Over Detainees' Fate

A statement by the Committee for the Freedom of Political Prisoners in Iran warns of a critical situation in Evin Prison, citing serious risks to inmates' lives. Reports indicate that administrative order has collapsed, some staff have left, and communication with the outside world has been cut. Food distribution has reportedly stopped and prison stores have closed, placing thousands of prisoners in alarming conditions. The committee states that holding inmates without adequate access to food, water, medical care, or family contact amounts to inhumane treatment, and holds judicial and prison authorities responsible for their safety. It calls for the immediate provision of basic necessities, restoration of family contact, independent monitoring, and guarantees of detainees' safety. The statement also urges the International Committee of the Red Cross and the UN Special Rapporteur to take urgent action and concludes by demanding the immediate and unconditional release of all political prisoners.

Behind every death sentence, a life is breathing
